EASY RIDER

There's no question about it — motorcycles are cool. And a motorcycle that combines art and luxury with avant-garde and rebellious design ethic is even cooler. From the American design company Confederate Motor Company, the team behind the prestigious Hellcat motorcycle, comes the radical twin B120 Wraith. With aircraft-like architecture and a perfect balance of proportion, this machine is both efficient and elegant. It's sure to create an unparalleled riding experience. Alas, only 250 B-series Wraiths will be made so there is no better time to put on your Kevlar jacket, Ray-Bans, and leather gloves and adopt an attitude that would do James Dean proud.
